Dear Mark:

Shelby has been performing ride and handling testing over the past several months. It has also been involved in ride and drive demonstrations and driving schools involving the new owners. During these events, many well-trained drivers including school instructor, Davey Hamilton, and test driver, Scott Maxwell, have put the new Series 1 through its paces. This has been done with and without the "Ride-On" product in the tires.

Just to let you know, there has never been an issue of ride and handling differences. It has never been a factor to the handling equation. As you know, the Series 1 is one of the best handling cars in the world. Davey and Scott are world class drivers from IRL and IMSA, respectively. If there had been any issue of a change in handling characteristics using the "Ride-On" product, these two would have found it.

I am pleased to say that "Ride-On" will be offered to the owners for use in their Series 1's with the backing and confidence of Shelby. Thank you for all your efforts to make this happen.

Best regards,

Mark Visconti
Vice President - Engineering
